

Safety Incentives – Promoting Health & Safety!

The development of an effective safety incentive program is an essential component in creating a strong safety culture in your organisation. Whether your goal is to improve a poor safety record or to maintain an already stellar record, incentive programs are an excellent vehicle to meet both goals.

And yet the debate rages on as some claim that safety incentive programs do nothing more than lead to hiding of injury, failing to create any real safety behaviour improvements. So what's the truth? And how do we implement a positive safety incentive program in the workplace?

This workshop will examine this issue in depth. We'll look at:

- What to measure – leading or lagging indicators?
- Designing the program
- When are incentives the most effective?
- Reward ideas
- Budgeting
- Measuring effectiveness

Target Audience:

The workshop will be of particular benefit to Safety and HR Professionals seeking to understand and implement a proactive safety incentive program in the workplace.

Duration:

½ day
